DOCUMENT RESUME

ED 414 632 EA 028 806

AUTHOR Reavis, George H.; Good, Carter V.
TITLE An Educational Platform for the Public Schools. Facsimile Edition.
INSTITUTION Phi Delta Kappa Educational Foundation, Bloomington, IN.
ISBN ISBN-0-87367-492-8
PUB DATE 1996-00-00
NOTE 73p.; Preface to the facsimile edition by Donovan R. Walling. For original 1968 edition, see ED 030 190.
AVAILABLE FROM Phi Delta Kappa Educational Foundation, International Headquarters, 408 North Union Street, P.O. Box 789, Bloomington, IN 47402-0789; toll-free: 1-800-766-1156.
PUB TYPE Books (010) -- Opinion Papers (120)
EDRS PRICE Document Not Available from EDRS.
DESCRIPTORS Citizenship Education; Educational Responsibility; Elementary Secondary Education; *Foundations of Education; Grouping (Instructional Purposes); Higher Education; Moral Values; *Public Schools; *Role of Education; *School Administration; *School Organization; Social Science Research; Student Placement

ABSTRACT

This booklet is a facsimile edition of the first book published by the Phi Delta Kappa Educational Foundation. Written in 1957 by George H. Reavis, who established the foundation in 1966, and with a research-based historical commentary and updating by Carter V. Good, "An Educational Platform for the Public Schools" was published in 1968 and sets forth a basic and enduring educational philosophy. The booklet covers such topics as the purposes and responsibilities of education; school organization: program and curriculum; the adaptation of teaching and learning procedures to individual differences; the relationship among administration, leadership, and the teacher; and values and issues in social science and research. The facsimile edition was published in recognition of the 30th anniversary of the founding of the Phi Delta Kappa Educational Foundation. (LMI)

****
* Reproductions supplied by EDRS are the best that can be made *
* from the original document. *
****